

Corporate Policy of the JUNKER Group

The JUNKER Group develops, produces, and distributes high precision grinding machines as well as filter systems for industrial air purification. As a Partner for Precision, we strive to act as a technological leader and operate successfully from an economic perspective. The processes of our integrated management system, which is certified according to ISO 9001, ISO 14001, and additionally according to ISO 45001 and VDA 6.4 depending on location, take the following principles into account:

Customer and Supplier Orientation

Our customers and suppliers are partners. We reliably meet customer requirements, continuously improve the quality of our products and services, and rely on stable and capable processes.

Employees

Since 1962, motivated and qualified employees have been the foundation of our success. We communicate openly and appreciatively, promote the competencies of our employees, and actively involve them in the ongoing improvements of our processes and management systems.

Innovation

We consistently advance our products, processes, and services, leverage our technological expertise, and work economically and efficiently to secure the long term market position of the JUNKER Group.

Quality

We work in a process oriented manner, think in terms of risks, and focus on preventing errors.

Environment

We protect the environment, avoid environmental impacts, and continuously improve our environmental performance. Relevant topics such as resources, energy, climate change, biodiversity, and life cycle assessments are incorporated into our decisions.

Occupational Health & Safety (OHS)

We create safe and health conscious working conditions, continuously eliminate or minimize risks in the work environment, and take advantage of opportunities to further improve it.

Information Security

We minimize information security risks and ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of information and data.

Objectives, Improvement & Compliance

Our corporate policy provides the framework for our quality, environmental, and OHS objectives. We monitor key figures, conduct audits and management reviews. We systematically identify and assess risks and opportunities in all areas of our integrated management system and derive appropriate measures to achieve continuous improvement and our established goals. We are committed to complying with all applicable legal and other binding requirements as well as considering the expectations and needs of relevant interested parties.